Type of Framework
Is specific information with a cost/benefit analysis for the mentioned frameworks available?
Would experts be able to evaluate which costs would be significant for companies (i.e. setting up, running, total, etc.)?
Which benefits could companies derive from in the medium or long term, and to what extent are these quantifiable?
Do experts have evidence that non-financial reporting helps companies to better integrate social and environmental issues into business operations and strategies?
Business Accountability
To ensure appropriate quality of non-financial disclosure by companies would there be added value in having this information assessed by external auditors?
Could independent expert opinions on CSR aspects be a tool for companies to improve management and controls relevant for the long-term sustainability and success?
The capital market
How could be considered that investors could directly benefit from better disclosure of non-financial information?
How important is the role of investors in encouraging companies to disclose non-financial information?
